CHRISTIANS NOT WITHOUT BLAME

Ernest De Bavier, an exporter of Chinese goods, who left the eccues of the present Boxer outbreak less than two mouths sgo, has arrived in New York, on business. Discussing the present as formed of malcontents, who e sim was to embar ass the government by any means in their power. Joined with them were many of the extreme conservat. Ves., opposed to railroads and modern and foreign ideas of all kinds.

Mr. De Bayier thinks the Empress has been much mi-represented, and declares she is not lindly opposed to re-form, but understands the Chinese character, and know that it is fatal to try to proceed too rapidly. The Emperor was a mere puppet in the bands of a few extreme progre-sionists. He also says that the people have a great deal of justice, in their haired of foreigners. Religious feeling has practically nothing to do with the case. The people do not care enough about neighbors' souls to become religious fanacies. Trouble arises only when civil privileges are aff cted, and the missionaries, with the best intentious in the world, are often at the bottom of it.

When a local mandarin imposes taxwhen a local mandarin imposes tax-es," continued Mr. De Bavier, "even it they are excessive, the 'heathen' Chi-nese pay them. The native Christians, however, whenever they imagine themselves ground down by unjust taxation, run with their troubles to the nearest missionary. These missionaries, instead of going to the local mandarin, as they should, and talk the matter over with him and maken satisfactory arangement in that way, almost invertably write to their national ministers a Pekin, and ask that redress be obtained for the members of their flock. Complaint is made by the ministers at the Tsung Li Yamen, which, in order to avoid fric-tion, ends the matter by calling down the local mandarin and reducing the Christian's taxes. The practice canno fail to cause envy and jealousy against the native Christians, who are thus, at the intercession of foreign powers, let off from so much of the duties to the empire, which the other Chinese have to perform, as there is no one to take "The Chinese taken into the foreign colonies have also been exempted from the native obligations, and this also has incensed the mandarins. The point of the whole matter is that all the foreigners bave acted like conquerers, and the Coinese resent this as strongly as our citizens would if the inhabitants of Comatown were to demand similar privileges from our government."
